

Your image bank

10 people and 99 product photographs the assistant already owns — just name them.

1. Name it Say the person and/or the product in your normal words.	2. It finds them It pulls the real photographs, not a made-up version.	3. You approve Nothing posts until you say approve , as always.

How to ask

A PERSON HOLDING A PRODUCT

Make me a post of Priya holding the lamb in the cold store

Uses Priya's saved photo and our lamb photo together — so it is our Priya, and our lamb.

Change the picture to the duck retail pack

Drops that exact photo straight in. No AI, instant, and it looks precisely like the photo we own.

PICK WHICH SHOT OF A THING

Use the beef QC hands shot instead

Same product, different framing — see Ways to say it below.

A PERSON ON THEIR OWN

A post of John on the quality control floor

Uses John's saved photo, puts him in the scene you asked for.

SOMETHING BRAND NEW

Generate a brand new image of a shipping port at sunrise

Say generate, brand new or from scratch and it will create one rather than use the bank.

Why this matters: when you name someone we have a photo of, you get that person every time — same face, same uniform, in every post. The assistant is placing real photographs, not inventing people and products from a description.

Ways to say it

hero	the clean, front-and-centre product shot	"the lamb hero shot"
QC hands	gloved hands inspecting it	"beef QC hands"
cold store	on a pallet in the chilled warehouse	"duck carton cold store" packed	boxed and ready to ship	"chicken drumstick hero packed"
carton / retail	which pack format, where there is more than one	"duck retail"

The people (10)
